Economist Charges Administration Put Price Level Above Security

Says People Were Not Informed of Russian Progress

CAMBRIDGE Mass. (UP) — One of the nation's leading economists said today that the Eisenhower administration's fiscal policies this year showed a "willingness . . . to jeopardize the security of the country."

Prof. Sumner H. Slichter, Lamont University professor at Harvard, made the charge in an article to appear Saturday in Business Scope, a business newsletter published here.

Burglars Break Into Elks Lodge

Th Harrisburg Elks lodge home on North Vine street was entered during the night by burglars who took a large amount of cash.

The exact amount was not immediately known and a check was to be made.

The burglars took only cash, leaving a number of bank checks. Entrance was made by climbing onto a conduit on the outside of the building and breaking a window glass that opened into the secretary's office.

The money was in a small metal cabinet and the cabinet was pried open.

This is the fourth break-in reported to officers this week. Previously the Harrisburg Humane shelter custodian's home, Harrisburg Junior high school and Logansport school were entered with $60 taken from Logan school and $20.25 belonging to the society and three guns belonging to the custodian being taken at the shelter.

edence over the security of the country itself.

"In its efforts to hold down government spending, the administration was careful to keep from the people information concerning Russian technological progress reported by our intelligence service."

Slichter, regarded as a "businessman's economist," said administration "blunders in basic defense and economic policy made in 1957 do affect the long-range economic outlook, especially the long-run outlook for prices."

"The willingness of the administration to jeopardize the security of the country," he said, "was, of course, by far the most feature of administration policy."

Calls Recession Inflationary

Slichter said the present recession "is largely the result of overdoing of credit restraint . . ." He said the recession, with its companion effects, "tends to increase the long-run likelihood of a rise in the price level."

But he predicted the business contraction "will not go far and will not last long." He said the business upturn will come when current cutbacks in inventory slow down "certainly by the second quarter of 1958, and possibly in the first quarter."

Hale pleaded innocent to the charge and his bond was set at $1,000. He was placed in the county jail when he did not make bond.

Harrisburg Man Names Sister in $25,000 Suit

MARION, Ill. — Wilson Murphy, Harrisburg, named his sister, Mrs. Ruth L. Finn of Fairfield, California, and the county of Williamson in a $25,000 suit Monday as a result of a car-truck wreck that was fatal to his mother, Mrs. Roy Shade of Harrisburg.

The suit, filed in circuit court, stated that Mrs. Shade was fatally injured while riding as a passenger in Mrs. Finn's auto when the auto and a county highway truck, driven by Frank Reeves of Cambria, collided at the Herrin wye last June 5.

Murphy, through his attorneys, R. W. Harris and George B. Lee, stated that Mrs. Finn, his sister, "is not entitled to a share in any sums recovered in the court action because of her negligence which contributed to cause the death." Other survivors include Mrs. Shade's husband, Roy, and another son, Douglas Murphy of Harrisburg.

Other passengers in Mrs. Finn's auto filed a $30,000 suit in circuit court Saturday against Mrs. Finn and Williamson county for personal injuries. They were Roy Shade, Miss Betty Dunfee and Mrs. Novella Barger, all of Harrisburg.

Wilson Murphy is the administrator of the estate for Mrs. Shade.

Centralia Man Stabs Woman And Police Chief

SANDOVAL, Ill. (UP) — Harry Broadwater, 31, Centralia truck driver, was held today in the stabbing of a woman and the Sandoval police chief at a tavern here Thursday night.

In St. Mary's Hospital at Centralia with a stab wound that narrowly missed his heart was Harold Wilkerson, 23, and Mrs. Edith Mitchell, 34, Centralia.

A doctor said Wilkerson's condition was "fine." Mrs. Mitchell's condition was listed as "satisfactory." She suffered multiple stab wounds in the neck, abdomen, shoulder and left side of the back.

Marion County Deputy Sheriff I. F. Ross said Broadwater had been keeping company with Mrs. Mitchell, a divorcee, for a few years, and apparently became angered when he found her in the D.M. tavern here Thursday night.

Ross said Broadwater pulled out a knife with a 2½ inch blade after an argument with Mrs. Mitchell in the tavern and began stabbing her.

He then took her outside the tavern. When Chief Wilkerson arrived and leaned over to assist Mrs. Mitchell, Broadwater stabbed him above the heart, Ross said. Broadwater then used Mrs. Mitchell as a shield to prevent the chief from arresting him, Ross said.

Broadwater then "dragged" the bleeding woman seven blocks to the home of her sister, who summoned an ambulance, Ross said.

Broadwater, who was arrested at the hospital, suffered a cut on his right hand, authorities said.

Another man, Johnny Cummins, Sandoval, was slashed on the cheek when he attempted to aid the police chief, Ross said.

Four in Family Seek $55,000 in Circuit Court Suit

Four members of a family today sought $55,000 from the Egyptian Concrete Co. and Don Mixell, a driver, as the result of a crash on Route 45 two miles north of Stonefort Aug. 2.

The complaint, filed in Saline county circuit court by the Brookfield, Ill., law firm, Kanelos and Cregar, says the collision involved motor vehicles driven by Essie May Atwater and one belonging to the concrete company, operated by Mixell.

The complaint says four in the Atwater car were injured and judgments are asked as follows:

Cornell R. Atwater $25,000, Albert Atwater $10,000, Doris Jean Atwater $10,000 and Essie Mae Atwater $10,000.

Former Naval Officer Who Lost Retirement Benefits Owes $3,777

WASHINGTON (UP)—New troubles piled up today for Robert B. Rueger, former Naval officer who lost all his retirement benefits when he was convicted of manslaughter.

Rueger now has been told he must cough up $3,777 to the Navy, apparently because someone in the Navy made a bookkeeping error, according to a report in the Army-Navy, Air Force Journal.

Rueger's troubles began six months after he retired from 30 years service in the Navy with an unblemished record and the rank of commander.

He killed an uninvited guest who barged into a New Year's party and started an argument at Rueger's Arlington, Va., home in 1956. For this Rueger was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in prison.

On the Navy's recommendation President Eisenhower signed an order striking Rueger's name from

Two Men Kill Bar Owner, Musician, Kidnap Three in Switching Cars

WASHINGTON (UP)—Two men killed a bar owner and a musician after an argument over their bill early today and then fled southward, kidnapping three persons and switching cars.

The killers, one wearing a red carnation, made their getaway from Washington after forcing their way into a car in which Pfc. Larry Monteith of nearby Ft. Myer and his date, Doris Mattingly, 24, were parked.

They released Miss Mattingly unharmed outside a bus terminal at Richmond, Va. Then they drove to Alberta, Va., about 15 miles north of the North Carolina line. There they locked Monteith in the trunk of his own car, stopped a black Cadillac driven by a man and forced him to drive them away.

A general police alarm was broadcast throughout the southeastern states for the "armed and dangerous" gunmen.

Police said the killers entered the Jo-Del restaurant here about 10 o'clock Thursday night and drank two bottles of whisky. An argument developed over their bill, which came to $20.

The restaurant owner, George P. Kaldes, 33, ejected them. But the two men returned about 2 a. m. just as Kaldes was closing up.

Police said the killers, one about 22 and one about 45, shot Kaldes to death at the door of the restaurant.

Then they shot and killed Kenneth Harlan Fisher, 38, a hillbilly guitarist and singer who worked at the restaurant.

A bullet struck and critically wounded the bar's blind pianist.

Bernard J. Mainer, 28, who was sitting on a bar stool.

Police found 11 expended .45 caliber cartridges at the scene.

Miss Mattingly's father said his daughter, a student at Emerson Institute, a prep school, is a crime mystery fan.

He said she had been out on a date before the kidnapping but that her date left during the evening on a trip to Chicago and asked Monteith to drive her home.

Monteith, due for discharge shortly, is stationed at nearby Ft. Myer, Va. He is an assistant manager at a Washington bar during his off-duty hours.

Debra Dianne, 2-Year-Old Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Metcalf, Dies

Debra Dianne, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Metcalf, of Brentwood, Mo., former local residents, died early today in Cardinal Glennon Memorial hospital in St. Louis.

The body was being brought to Harrisburg by the Harrisburg funeral home for services.

It was learned two weeks ago that the little girl, the Metcalfs only child, was suffering from acute leukemia. Recently she caught chickenpox, which complicated her illness.

Her mother is the daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. Ross Lane. The father, more familiarly known as Rudy Metcalf here, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Metcalf of Harrisburg.

Rise Slowing by Little Wabash In East Carmi

Wabash at Mount Carmel Threatens More Families

By United Press

Some 50 southern Illinois families have been driven from their homes by floods in the wake of last week's tornadoes that killed 12 persons and injured more than 200.

Forty families have been made homeless by the Little Wabash River at East Carmi and several others are going to and from their homes in boats.

Two businesses have evacuated.

The river stood at 34.55 feet today, but was tapering off in its rise. Observers do not think any more families will be forced out unless there is heavy rainfall.

Water was 8 feet deep in some homes and the sheriff's office has banned pleasure motor boating in the area in the fear that waves would break windows or knock the flood engulfed homes from their shaky foundations.

The flood victims' belongings have been stored at the former Air Force radar station near Carmi. Victims are staying with friends and relatives until the water recedes.

The flooding Wabash River at Mount Carmel has driven out six families and a dozen more are threatened. The New York Central and Southern railroads are attempting to obtain empty cars to house the stricken families.

Tornado cleanup work has been resumed at Murphysboro in parts of devastated areas not flooded by the Big Muddy River. There have been no evacuations in Murphysboro.

In the rest of the nation, a latecoming winter began to show first signs of digging in. Cool air moved in behind a disturbance in the Northeast Thursday night, causing lower temperatures over the entire nation from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Seaboard.

A steady fall of rain in the Northeast left amounts ranging from 1 to 2 1/2 inches during a 24-hour period in parts of central New England. Snow flurries whipped along the new cold front from the upper Ohio Valley to high points in Pennsylvania and New York.

Dust clouds hovered over most of the central Plains region, caused by warm southerly winds, some reaching speeds of 55 miles per hour.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Wisdom is the principal thing.
Prov. 4:7.

In 1894 there were only fifty thousand students in all the colleges
and universities in America. There are that many new in some individual universities. But wisdom rests on correct information, on TRUTH. But some dictators say that truth is that which supports
their dictatorship. Truth is mighty
and will prevail some of us will see
it.

A Critical Economic Indicator

Thus far the sales of 1958 model automobiles have been disappointing. New business is such
in fact that such major producers as Ford are laying off sizable
numbers of their employees.

Inevitably this has to be poor
news for the economy as a whole,
for we all know how big a role
the auto makers play in the total
business picture.

It is perhaps a smaller role
than it once was, what with the growth of activities like the chemical industry and the wider reliance on service trades. But its swath through industry is still impressive.

Recently the American Finance
Conference, an organization of automobile credit companies, reminded us of this. It pointed out:

That the automobile industry in 1956 consumed 64.8 per cent of the natural rubber and 61 per cent of the synthetic rubber used in this country; 42.4 per cent of the lead; 42 per cent of the sheet
steel (which also goes for ice-boxes, stoves, etc.); and 28 per cent of the U. S. zinc consumed.
The list could be lengthened to include other materials in lesser amounts.

If 1958 is to be a good year generally, things obviously will have
to improve substantially in an industry that "aws so heavily on other fields. The country needs
the tonic of a busy Detroit.

"America the Beautiful" Is a Wonderful Song, But . . .

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Amazing Phenomena In North Africa, But Nothing More Astonishing Than U. S. Servicemen Working At Peace: U.
S. 6th Fleet, Promoting Peace, Is Real Part Of Moroccan Community.

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is now on his annual Christmas tour of American bases overseas, this year to North Africa.)

PORT LYAUTEY, Morocco. — North Africa has developed some amazing phenomena lately, from oil to the possibility of harnessing the sun's rays. But nothing has been more phenomenal than the sight of American servicemen, trained to fight wars, working at peace.

At Port Lyauety, on the edge of the desert, where the Mediterranean joins the Atlantic, is one of the best examples. Here the U. S. naval officers, trained to man battleships and airplane carriers, have won friends galore for the United States and have definitely influenced American policy.

Navy men have done this in the ancient yet new nation of Morocco, steeped in tradition as old as the Prophet Mohamed, now toddling with proud though hesitant footstep, as one of the newest nations in the world. Long under French rule, long chafing against western imperialism, it could slip into the Soviet orbit
without too much nudging.

King Mohamed V, benevolent monarch of Morocco, however, is one who opposes communism. To strengthen his hand, he was giving a triumphal tour through the United States, marred slightly by the illness of President Eisenhower in November. He arrived back in Morocco the same day I arrived here with the Harlem Globetrotters and a group of entertainers to make Christmas

happier for U. S. troops.

TWO NAVAL AMBASSADORS

Even before their king returned, however, the people of Morocco had read in great detail
about the wonders of America,
its friendly people, its democracy, its tall buildings, its Sunday newspapers—some of the most glowing accounts of the U.
S. A. ever published. Neither Americans nor Moroccans know
it, but this was the backstage work of two naval officers—Capt.
Christian Du Borg of Sausalito, Calif., commander at Port Lyau-tey, and his public information
aide, Lieut. Comdr. Leon Blair of Lubbock, Tex.

Together they arranged for 14
Moroccan newsmen to visit the United States. Result: A total of 8,000 column inches of laudatory news about the U. S. A.
These news accounts even pushed the disastrous failure of Project Vanguard at Cape Canaveral off
the front pages.

Actually, Du Borg and Blair had a hard time putting this newspaper trip across with the State Department. This took some selling. In the end, however, Commander Blair went with the Moroccan newsmen to the United States. He took them to the giant Norfolk, Va., naval base, to impress them with the Navy's power to back up its overseas bases; through the printing establishment of the Norfolk Ledger Dispatch; and let them mingle with American newsmen as President Eisenhower welcomed King Mohamed.

"We would have been able to tap President Eisenhower on the shoulder as he passed," commented one correspondent, impressed with the freedom of the American press.

They were surprised to find
they could walk through the Pentagon, which, they noted, contained many priceless secrets.

"No one asked us for our credentials," they informed the Moroccan people in their subsequent accounts.

NO LAWBREAKING

Turned down in buying whisky
in Washington, D. C., on a Sunday, they asked the waitress to serve it in coffee cups.

"She gave us a look which seemed to say that she wouldn't countenance such an abomination," they reported to the Moroccan people in respect for law enforcement.

Particularly impressed with American newspapers, they noted that they were 20 centimeters thick, for only 20 cents; contained special magazines, theatrical sections, sports, classified ads,
and that a Washington paper even advertised three churches for sale, one with 150 seats for $65-000.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE FRIENDSHIP

This pilgrimage to America,
however, is only part of the people-to-people friendship campaign
the Navy and the Air Force have been conducting in Morocco and all over the Mediterranean.

Here in Port Lyauety, Captain Du Borg opened up the U. S. naval base on armed forces day to let the local Moroccan populace have a friendly look at the base that was protecting them. Previously, under the French, the bases had been under tight security. But the entire city was invited by Captain Du Borg to come for a visit.

When the carrier Forrestal was in port, Captain Du Borg also invited the crown prince of Morocco, Moulay Hassan, aboard for a demonstration of American jet fighters in action. The prince sat spellbound for hours as naval jets took off from and landed on the carrier's deck with precision timing.

GOOD WILL AMBASSADORS

Thus the U. S. Navy has made itself not an imperialist occupier
of a foreign land, but genuine friend of the Moroccan people.
By sending American children to Moroccan schools, by promoting basketball and sports tournaments between Moroccans and Americans, by cooperating in clothing drives, in Boy Scout and other local projects, it has made itself a real part of the Moroccan community.

Vice Adm. Charles Brown, commander of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and No. 1 promoter of people-to-people friendship, has become a roving ambassador of good will from North Africa to Italy, from Malta to the Arab States. He has even sent a directive to all U. S. fleet personnel asking for their ideas on furthering people-to-people friendship.

Here are some of the good-will projects his men have put across:
In Naples, men and officers of the Sixth Fleet every Christmas stage "Operation Ambassador" acting as Santa Claus for the children of Naples. . . . Men of the USS Capricornus adopted a child from Giugliano, Italy. . . .
The USS Hermitage staged a party
for underprivileged Greek children on the Island of Corfu, dug down into their own pockets
to contribute to their future.

Capt. J. Coppoletta, a medical officer of the Sixth Fleet, contributed $1,500 of his personal medical equipment to the Casa Materna orphanage in Italy. . . . The USS Salem, flagship of the fleet, and the USS Lake Champlain have held "open ship" for local citizens when in port on armed forces day. Italian, Greek and other Mediterranean nationalities are invited to come aboard. . . .
Last year individual contributions to the Protestant Chapel
funds and the Catholic Chapel
funds from the fleet totaled $4-591, which went to help 1,052
children and 120 aged people.

The term blue law has come down to us from the blue laws
said to have been in force about 1640 in the colony of New Haven and listed in ridicule in the "General History of Connecticut," written by Samuel A. Peters, a Tory clergyman. It is doubtful if such a code actually existed. But some of the laws Peters mentioned had been in force in one or another of the New England colonies. They had to do with church attendance, the strict observance of the Sabbath and the private life of the colonists.

A REAL "HOLLY DAY" TREE grows in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Molsinger, 307 West Walnut street, Carrier Mills. Holly—a traditional Christmas time decoration—usually is imported, but Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Molsinger have their own home-grown supply. A beautifully shaped holly tree, more than 16 feet tall, is the center of much interest to neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Molsinger. It is really beautiful at this season, with dark, shiny green leaves and bright red berries. Mrs. Molsinger states the tree is about 30 years old. In 1924 the Molsingers and other members of the Carrier Mills Methodist church were selling holly wreaths for the benefit of the church building program and many of the wreaths were displayed from the Molsinger front porch. Two years later a small holly shoot was found growing, apparently from one of the berries that had fallen from the tree. The shoot was given careful attention, transplanted to the back yard where it would have lots of room to grow and it sure has grown. It blooms in April, bearing small star-shaped flowers, with orange blossom scent, then after two or three weeks small, green berries can be seen. The berries turn red after the first frost and the tree is a thing of beauty by the Christmas holiday season. Holly trees are very unusual in this climate and the one in the Molsinger yard is thought to be the only one in Carrier Mills and one of only a few in Saline county. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

CREAL GRADERS ENTERTAIN LARGE AUDIENCE

The Creal Springs grade school pupils presented an operetta, "Red Candles," Thursday night, to a well packed gym where the exercises were performed.

Mrs. Paul Langan was director of the two-act operetta, which had nine major characters in a cast of 100. The chorus was directed by Miss Irene Watson, Unit 2 Music supervisor. Chorus were presented between acts.

The story concerned a Norwegian woman who came to this country with her two small children to claim an inheritance. They separated eight years before being reunited at a Christmas activity. Brenda Colboth, eighth grader, played the mother; Mildred Boyd, seventh grade, and John Gordon, fifth grade, the children.

The entire teachers staff did a swell job in assisting Mrs. Langan, while Principal J. D. Riddle, and seventh grade teacher, Murrell McGowan, managed the stage and scenery in an efficient way.

The Creal Springs grade school dismissed Friday, Dec. 20, for the holidays and will resume school activities Thursday, Jan. 2.

Charles Rector was a visitor in St. Genevieve, Mo., Wednesday.

The Burnett bank and the First State bank have each accepted a $500 membership in the Eldorado Chamber of Commerce. The banks have requested that 60% or more of this sum is to be spent in special community trade promotion and on efforts to attract industry.

Robert Barton, president of First State bank, stated, "We believe that an active and intelligently run Chamber of Commerce, adequately financed, can do a great deal of good in hastening the growth and progress of Eldorado. We are glad to make a substantial contribution toward the financing of such a program."

Ernie Tate, president of the Burnett bank stated, "Our Board of Directors is aware of the plans being formulated for 1958 by Eldorado's Chamber of Commerce. They hold promise of giving more direct service and benefits to its members, and more vigorous and continuing efforts to attract new industry to the area. We support the Chamber of Commerce program because it is the one organization designed specifically

CASH IN THE TRASH? It can be a costly business, keeping any considerable amount of money about the house. Quite aside from the dangers of fire and theft, which are real enough, there is the less dramatic but perhaps even more likely possibility that the money will simply be lost. Countless newspaper stories bear witness to this fact. And, quite aside from the matter of risk, money kept around the house is losing bank interest that it could be earning. On every count, those "extra" dollars are better off in the bank.

Economist Charges Administration Put Price Level Above Security

Says People Were Not Informed of Russian Progress

CAMBRIDGE Mass. (CP) — One of the nation's leading economists said today that the Eisenhower administration's fiscal policies this year showed a "willingness . . . to jeopardize the security of the country."

Prof. Sumner H. Slichter, Lamont University professor at Harvard, made the charge in an article to appear Saturday in Business Scope, a business newsletter published here.

"It is clear that in 1957," Slichter said, "the interest of the administration in short-run stability of the price level was given precedence over the security of the country itself."

His efforts to hold down government spending, the administration was careful to keep from the people information concerning Russian technological progress reported by our intelligence service."

Slichter, regarded as a "businessman's economist," said administration "blunders in basic defense and economic policy made in 1957 do affect the long-range economic outlook, especially the long-run outlook for prices."

"The willingness of the administration to jeopardize the security of the country," he said, "was, of course, by far the worst feature of administration policy."

Calls Recession Inflationary

Slichter said the present recession . . . is largely the result of overdoing of credit restraint . . . He said the recession, with its companion effects, "tends to increase the long-run likelihood of a rise in the price level."

But he predicted the business contraction "will not go far and will not last long." He said the business upturn will come when current cutbacks in inventory slow down "certainly by the second quarter of 1958, and possibly in the first quarter."

Centralia Man Stabs Woman And Police Chief

SANDOVAL, Ill. (CP) — Harry Broadwater, 31, Centralia truck driver, was held today in the stabbing of a woman and the Sandoval police chief at a tavern here Thursday night.

In St. Mary's Hospital at Centralia with a stab wound that narrowly missed his heart was Harold Wilkerson, 23, and Mrs. Edith Mitchell, 34, Centralia.

A doctor said Wilkerson's condition was "fine." Mrs. Mitchell's condition was listed as "satisfactory." She suffered multiple stab wounds in the neck, abdomen, shoulder and left side of the back.

Marion County Deputy Sheriff I. F. Ross said Broadwater had been keeping company with Mrs. Mitchell, a divorcee, for a few years, and apparently became angered when he found her in the D.&M. tavern here Thursday night.

Ross said Broadwater pulled out a knife with a 2 1/4 inch blade after an argument with Mrs. Mitchell in the tavern and began stabbing her.

He then took her outside the tavern. When Chief Wilkerson arrived and leaned over to assist Mrs. Mitchell, Broadwater stabbed him above the heart, Ross said. Broadwater then used Mrs. Mitchell as a shield to prevent the chief from arresting him, Ross said.

Broadwater then "dragged" the bleeding woman seven blocks to the home of her sister, who summoned an ambulance, Ross said.

Broadwater, who was arrested at the hospital, suffered a cut on his right hand, authorities said.

Another man, Johnny Cummins, Sandoval, was slashed on the cheek when he attempted to aid the police chief, Ross said.

The complaint, filed in Saline county circuit court by the Brookfield, Ill., law firm, Kanelos and Cregar, says the collision involved motor vehicles driven by Essie May Atwater and one belonging to the concrete company, operated by Mixell.

The complaint says four in the Atwater car were injured and judgments are asked as follows:

Former Naval Officer Who Lost Retirement Benefits Owes $3,777

WASHINGTON (CP)—New troubles piled up today for Robert B. Rueger, former Naval officer who lost all his retirement benefits when he was convicted of manslaughter.

Rueger now has been told he must cough up $3,777 to the Navy, apparently because someone in the Navy made a bookkeeping error, according to a report in the Army-Navy Air Force Journal.

Rueger's troubles began six months after he retired from 30 years service in the Navy with an unblemished record and the rank of commander.

He killed an uninvited guest who barged into a New Year's party and started an argument at Rueger's Arlington, Va., home in 1956. For this Rueger was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in prison.

On the Navy's recommendation President Eisenhower signed an order striking Rueger's name from

Two Men Kill Bar Owner, Musician, Kidnap Three in Switching Cars

WASHINGTON (CP)—Two men killed a bar owner and a musician after an argument over their bill early today and then fled southward, kidnapping three persons and switching cars.

The killers, one wearing a red carnation, made their getaway from Washington after forcing their way into a car in which Pfc. Larry Monteith of nearby Ft. Myer and his date, Doris Mattingly, 24, were parked.

They released Miss Mattingly unharmed outside a bus terminal at Richmond, Va. Then they drove to Alberta, Va., about 15 miles north of the North Carolina line. There they locked Monteith in the trunk of his own car, stopped a black Cadillac driven by a man and forced him to drive them away.

A general police alarm was broadcast throughout the southern states for the "armed and dangerous" gunmen.

Police said the killers entered the Jo-Del restaurant here about 10 o'clock Thursday night and drank two bottles of whisky. An argument developed over their bill, which came to $20.

The restaurant owner, George P. Kaldes, 33, ejected them. But the two men returned about 2 a. m. just as Kaldes was closing up.

Police said the killers, one about 22 and one about 45, shot Kaldes to death at the door of the restaurant.

Then they shot and killed Kenneth Harlan Fisher, 38, a hillbilly guitarist and singer who worked at the restaurant.

A bullet struck and critically wounded the bar's blind pianist.

Bernard J. Mainer, 28, who was sitting on a bar stool.

Police found 11 expended .45 caliber cartridges at the scene.

Miss Mattingly's father said his daughter, a student at Emerson Institute, a prep school, is a crime mystery fan.

He said she had been out on a date before the kidnaping but that her date left during the evening on a trip to Chicago and asked Monteith to drive her home.

Monteith, due for discharge shortly, is stationed at nearby Ft. Myer, Va. He is an assistant manager at a Washington bar during his off-duty hours.

It was learned two weeks ago that the little girl, the Metcalfs only child, was suffering from acute leukemia. Recently she caught chickenpox, which complicated her illness.

Her mother is the daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. Ross Lane. The father, more familiarly known as Rudy Metcalf here, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Metcalf of Harrisburg.

Rise Slowing by Little Wabash In East Carmi

Wabash at Mount Carmel Threatens More Families

By United Press
Some 50 southern Illinois families have been driven from their homes by floods in the wake of last week's tornadoes that killed 12 persons and injured more than 200.

Forty families have been made homeless by the Little Wabash River at East Carmi and several others are going to and from their homes in boats.

Two businesses have evacuated.

The river stood at 34.55 feet today, but was tapering off in its rise. Observers do not think any more families will be forced out unless there is heavy rainfall.

Water was 8 feet deep in some homes and the sheriff's office has banned pleasure motor boating in the area in the fear that waves would break windows or knock the flood engulfed homes from their shaky foundations.

The flood victims' belongings have been stored at the former Air Force radar station near Carmi. Victims are staying with friends and relatives until the water recedes.

The flooding Wabash River at Mount Carmel has driven out six families and a dozen more are threatened. The New York Central and Southern railroads are attempting to obtain empty cars to house the stricken families.

Tornado cleanup work has been resumed at Murphysboro in parts of devastated areas not flooded by the Big Muddy River. There have been no evacuations in Murphysboro.

In the rest of the nation, a latecoming winter began to show first signs of digging in. Cool air moved in behind a disturbance in the Northeast Thursday night, causing lower temperatures over the entire nation from the Mississippi Valley to the Atlantic Seaboard.

A steady fall of rain in the Northeast left amounts ranging from 1 to 2 1/2 inches during a 24-hour period in parts of central New England. Snow flurries whipped along the new cold front from the upper Ohio Valley to high points in Pennsylvania and New York.

Dust clouds hovered over most of the central Plains region, caused by warm southerly winds, some reaching speeds of 55 miles per hour.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Wisdom is the principal thing.
Prov. 4:7.
In 1894 there were only fifty thousand students in all the colleges
and universities in America. There are that many new in some individual universities. But wisdom rests on correct information, on
TRUTH. But some dictators say
that truth is that which supports
their dictatorship. Truth is mighty
and will prevail some of us will see
it.

A Critical
Economic Indicator

Thus far the sales of 1958 model automobiles have been disappointing. New business is such
in fact that such major producers as Ford are laying off sizable
numbers of their employees.
Inevitably this has to be poor
news for the economy as a whole,
for we all know how big a role
the auto makers play in the total
business picture.
It is perhaps a smaller role
than it once was, what with the growth of activities like the chemical industry and the wider reliance on service trades. But its swath through industry is still
impressive.
Recently the American Finance
Conference, an organization of automobile credit companies, reminded us of this. It pointed out:
That the automobile industry in 1956 consumed 64.8 per cent of
the natural rubber and 61 per cent of the synthetic rubber used
in this country; 42.4 per cent of
the lead; 42 per cent of the sheet
steel (which also goes for ice-
boxes, stoves, etc.); and 28 per cent of the U. S. zinc consumed.
The list could be lengthened to
include other materials in lesser
amounts.
If 1958 is to be a good year generally, things obviously will have
to improve substantially in an industry that "aws so heavily on
other fields. The country needs
the tonic of a busy Detroit.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Amazing Phenomena In North Africa, But Nothing More Astonishing Than U. S. Servicemen Working At Peace; U. S. 6th Fleet, Promoting Peace, Is Real Part Of Moroccan Community.
(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is now on his annual Christmas tour of American bases overseas, this year to North Africa.)
PORT LYAUTEY, Morocco. — North Africa has developed some amazing phenomena lately, from oil to the possibility of harnessing the sun's rays. But nothing has been more phenomenal than the sight of American servicemen, trained to fight wars, working at peace.
At Port Lyauvey, on the edge of the desert, where the Mediterranean joins the Atlantic, is one of the best examples. Here the U. S. naval officers, trained to man battleships and airplane carriers, have won friends galore for the United States and have definitely influenced American policy.
Navy men have done this in the ancient eye' new nation of Morocco, steeped in tradition as old as the Prophet Mohamed, now toddling with proud though hesitant footstep, as one of the newest nations in the world. Long under French rule, long chafing against western imperialism, it could slip into the Soviet orbit without too much nudging.
King Mohamed V, benevolent monarch of Morocco, however, is one who opposes communism. To strengthen his hand, he was given a triumphant tour through the United States, married slightly by the illness of President Eisenhower in November. He arrived back in Morocco the same day I arrived here with the Harlem Globetrotters and a group of entertainers to make Christmas happier for U. S. troops.
TWO NAVAL AMBASSADORS
Even before their king returned, however, the people of Morocco had read in great detail about the wonders of America, its friendly people, its democracy, its tall buildings, its Sunday newspapers—some of the most glowing accounts of the U. S. A. ever published. Neither Americans nor Moroccans know it, but this was the backstage work of two naval officers—Capt. Christian Du Borg of Susanville, Calif., commander at Port Lyauvey, and his public information aide, Lieut. Comdr. Leon Blair of Lubbock, Tex.
Together they arranged for 14 Moroccan newsmen to visit the United States. Result: A total of 8,000 column inches of laudatory news about the U. S. A. These news accounts even pushed the disastrous failure of Project Vanguard at Cape Canaveral off the front pages.
Actually, Du Borg and Blair had a hard time putting this newspaper trip across with the State Department. This took some selling. In the end, however, Commander Blair went with the Moroccan newsmen to the United States. He took them to the giant Norfolk, Va., naval base, to impress them with the Navy's power to back up its overseas bases; through the printing establishment of the Norfolk Ledger Dispatch; and let them mingle with American newsmen as President Eisenhower welcomed King Mohamed.
"We would have been able to tap President Eisenhower on the shoulder as he passed," commented one correspondent, impressed with the freedom of the American press.
They were surprised to find they could walk through the Pentagon, which, they noted, contained many priceless secrets.
"No one asked us for our credentials," they informed the Moroccan people in their subsequent accounts.
NO LUBBERFREAKING
Turned down in buying whisky in Washington, D. C., on a Sunday, they asked the waitress to serve it in coffee cups.
"She gave us a look which seemed to say that she wouldn't countenance such an abomination," they reported to the Moroccan people in respect for law enforcement.
Particularly impressed with American newspapers, they noted that they were 20 centimeters thick, for only 20 cents; contained special magazines, theatrical sections, sports, classified ads, and that a Washington paper even advertised three churches for sale, one with 150 seats for $65,000.
PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE FRIENDSHIP
This pilgrimage to America, however, is only part of the people-to-people friendship campaign the Navy and the Air Force have been conducting in Morocco and all over the Mediterranean.
Here in Port Lyauvey, Captain Du Borg opened up the U. S. naval base on armed forces day to let the local Moroccan populace have a friendly look at the base that was protecting them. Previously, under the French, the bases had been under tight security. But the entire city was invited by Captain Du Borg to come for a visit.
When the carrier Forrestal was in port, Captain Du Borg also invited the crown prince of Morocco, Moulay Hassan, aboard for a demonstration of American jet fighters in action. The prince sat spellbound for hours as naval jets took off from and landed on the carrier's deck with precision timing.
GOOD-WILL AMBASSADORS
Thus the U. S. Navy has made itself not an imperialist occupier of a foreign land, but genuine friend of the Moroccan people. By sending American children to Moroccan schools, by promoting basketball and sports tournaments between Moroccans and Americans, by cooperating in clothing drives, in Boy Scout and other local projects, it has made itself a real part of the Moroccan community.
Vice Adm. Charles Brown, commander of the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean and No. 1 promoter of people-to-people friendship, has become a roving ambassador of good will from North Africa to Italy, from Malta to the Arab States. He has even sent a directive to all U. S. fleet personnel asking for their ideas on furthering people-to-people friendship.
Here are some of the good-will projects his men have put across: In Naples, men and officers of the Sixth Fleet every Christmas stage "Operation Ambassador" acting as Santa Claus for the children of Naples. . . . Men of the USS Capricornus adopted a child from Giugliano, Italy. . . . The USS Hermitage staged a party for underprivileged Greek children on the Island of Corfu, dug down into their own pockets to contribute to their future. . . . Capt. J. Coppolella, a medical officer of the Sixth Fleet, contributed $1,500 of his personal medical equipment to the Casa Materna orphanage in Italy. . . . The USS Salem, flagship of the fleet, and the USS Lake Champlain have held "open ship" for local citizens when in port on armed forces day. Italian, Greek and other Mediterranean nationalities are invited to come aboard. . . . Last year individual contributions to the Protestant Chapel funds and the Catholic Chapel funds from the fleet totaled $4,591, which went to help 1,052 children and 120 aged people.

We are glad to make a substantial contribution toward the financing of such a program."

Ernie Tate, president of the Burnett bank stated, "Our Board of Directors is aware of the plans being formulated for 1958 by Eldorado's Chamber of Commerce. They hold promise of giving more direct service and benefits to its members, and more vigorous and continuing efforts to attract new industry to the area. CASH IN THE TRASH? It can be a costly business, keeping any considerable amount of money about the house. Quite aside from the dangers of fire and theft, which are real enough, there is the less dramatic but perhaps even more likely possibility that the money will simply be lost. Countless newspaper stories bear witness to this fact. And, quite aside from the matter of risk, money kept around the house is losing bank interest that it could be earning. On every count, these "extra" dollars are better off in the bank.

A REAL "HOLLY-DAY" TREE grows in the back yard of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Molsinger, 307 West Walnut street, Carrier Mills. Holly—a traditional Christmas time decoration—usually is imported, but Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Molsinger have their own home-grown supply. A beautifully shaped holly tree more than 16 feet tall, is the center of much interest to neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Molsinger. It is really beautiful at this season, with dark, shiny green leaves and bright red berries. Mrs. Molsinger states the tree is about 30 years old. In 1924 the Molsingers and other members of the Carrier Mills Methodist church were selling holly wreaths for the benefit of the church building program and many of the wreaths were displayed from the Molsinger front porch. Two years later a small holly shoot was found growing, apparently from one of the berries that had fallen from the wreaths. The shoot was given careful attention, transplanted to the back yard where it would have lots of room to grow and it sure has grown. It blooms in April, bearing small star-shaped flowers, with orange blossom scent, then after two or three weeks small, green berries can be seen. The berries turn red after the first frost and the tree is a thing of beauty by the Christmas holiday season. Holly trees are very unusual in this climate and the one in the Molsinger yard is thought to be the only one in Carrier Mills and one of only a few in Saline county. (Daily Register Staff Photo)

Carrier Mills, Metropolis to Play for Tournament Championship

Win Openers from Johnston City And Rosiclare

The Carrier Mills Wildcats and Metropolis Trojans will clash tonight in the championship game of the second annual Carrier Mills Invitational tournament.

The 'Cats and Trojans won their way into the title tilt by taking decisions from Johnston City and Rosiclare Thursday evening in the first round of play in the four-team blind-draw tournament.

Metropolis edged Rosiclare 50-49 in the opener and the host school was victorious over the JC Indians 69-59.

Rosiclare led Metropolis throughout most of the tourney's opening game, but with three regulars on the bench for the foul route couldn't hold off a late surge and lost out in the final minute 50-49 in a humdinger of a battle. This was Metropolis' second close one over Rosiclare in a week, having taken a 56-53 verdict last Friday on the Rosiclare floor.

Call 55 Fouls

Carrier Mills held the upper hand practically all the way over the battling Johnston City Indians, but Wildcat fans had some anxious moments in the late stages after four 'Cats had fouled out of the game.

Johnston City also lost a couple of regulars in the game that was marked by an unusually large number of fouls, the officials whistling a total of 55 infractions, 31 against Carrier Mills and 24 on the Indians.

Bill Smith fouled out early in the final frame and Vern Rollins left with exactly 2 minutes left to play. Keene and Williams had fouled out earlier. White and Sullivan of Johnston City also were whistled out.

The Indians threw up a tight under-the-basket defense and managed to hold Rollins scoreless from the field throughout the entire second half but he was fouled seven times and made ten free tosses, which when added to 11 points made in the first half gave him scoring honors. Smith had 17 and Manier 12 for Carrier Mills. Johnston City also had three scorers in double figures—Grant 19, White 14 and McNeal 13.

Early in the game the score was tied at 6-6, but by the end of the quarter Carrier Mills was on top 19-9.

Johnston City held a 15-11 second quarter scoring edge to trail only 30-24 at the half. At the three-quarter mark CM was in front 50-39 and the teams battled on near-ever terms in the final frame.

In the opener Metropolis had to stage a fast finish to grab the victory. Late in the opening quarter the score was tied 10-10, but at the end of the period Rosiclare led 13-10 and held a 27-20 halftime advantage.

Rosiclare moved farther in front early in the third period, holding a 31-22 lead at one time, but by the quarter's end Metropolis had moved to within 5 points, 38-33.

The last quarter was nip-and-tuck. With 3:30 to play Rosiclare led 42-41, at 2:47 Rosiclare still held a one-point lead 44-43, then Metropolis went in front 45-44 with 1:44 to play. Rosiclare then led 46-45, the score was tied 46-

WEBQ to Broadcast From Two Holiday Tourneys Tonight

WEBQ will broadcast from two holiday tournaments tonight, Ken Hamilton sportscaster has announced.

At 7 o'clock tonight Hamilton and Elmer Gladson will broadcast the Harrisburg West Frankfort game of the Egyptian Holiday tournament being played at the HTHS Davenport gym.

Then they will move to Carrier Mills to put the championship game of the Carrier Mills tourney on the air, with Metropolis and host Carrier Mills playing in the title game. Broadcast time from Carrier Mills is slated for 8:30.

Both games will be live, direct broadcasts over both AM and FM on WEBQ, Hamilton stated.

46 Rosiclare went to the front 49-46 on a basket and free throw by Donnie Seay with 1:14 to go. Seay fouled out with a minute to play and Christian sank a free throw to move Metropolis within two points, 49-47. Christian then raced under for a basket to knot the score at 49-all with 40 seconds to go. Parr's free toss seconds later won the game and put Coach Claude Shelton, who organized the Carrier Mills tourney before moving to Metropolis, in a position to battle his former team for the title.

Rams Meet Carbondale in Other Tilt; Locals Down Du Quoin, 79-39

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs, 79-39 winners over Du Quoin in the opening round of the Egyptian Holiday tournament at Davenport gym yesterday afternoon, meet the West Frankfort Red Birds at 7:00 and the Mt. Vernon Rams meet the Carbondale Terriers at 8:45 in semifinal cage tilts tonight.

Thus the semifinal card is composed of three South Seven conference teams and Carbondale, predicted by many to be the class of the Southwest Egyptian conference this year.

Luke Harrisburg, Frankfort had an easy time with its first round foe in the opening tourney tilt, drubbing Murphysboro 71-36. But last night competition tightened up a bit, Mt. Vernon beating McLeansboro, 66 to 50, and Carbondale finally defeating an Eldorado team that gave the big Terriers a real battle for three quarters. This score was 68-58.

Locals Shoot .531

After the first quarter, which ended 10-6, Harrisburg had an easy time with Du Quoin, playing a fine running and shooting game the last three quarters.

The Bull Dogs shot a fine 531 to .319 for Du Quoin. After hitting only four out of 14 the first quarter, the locals connected with 10 out of 17 the second period, nine out of 14 the third and 11 out of 19 the fourth for 34 field goals in 64 attempts. Du Quoin hit 15 out of 47.

With good balanced scoring Harrisburg led 32-18 at halftime and 54-31 at the end of the third quarter. In the last frame the Harrisburg reserves outscored Du Quoin 25 to 8 with Bill Yates coming into his own with 12 points, 10 coming in the final quarter and the other two on the final basket of the third period.

Overrule Judge's Integration Order

NEW ORLEANS, La. (U.P.) — The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled today that the public schools of Dallas need not integrate in January, as a U. S. district judge in Dallas had ordered.

A ruling came at the request of the Dallas school board which chafed under the Federal District Judge William T. Atwell went beyond his authority when he issued an integration order this year.

The Appeals Court said the Dallas school board is still under orders to end racial segregation "with all deliberated speed." But Judge Atwell's mid-term deadline was overruled and no new deadline was set.

Halleck Asks Tax Aid for Parents of College Students

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — A key House Republican today proposed a special tax exemption for parents of college students. He offered this as an alternative to federal scholarships, as proposed by President Eisenhower.

"It would cost less and do more good," Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) told a reporter. Halleck is a House leader with close White House connections and normally is a staunch administration supporter.

House Democratic Whip Carl Albert (Okla.), in a separate interview, rejected the Halleck proposal as an answer to the critical need for more scientists but said it might have merit on other grounds. Albert endorsed the scholarship plan.

Albert said Halleck's plan would help most those families who can and will send their youngsters to college without federal aid. He said families most in need aren't paying enough federal taxes to get much benefit. Only in a "very, very few" cases, Albert added, would a special tax exemption make a difference between going to college and staying home.

The contrasting views of the two House leaders pointed up growing indications the President's plan for scholarships and other federal aids for scientific study faces sharp controversy in the House and Senate.

Many lawmakers oppose all federal aid to education and can be expected to fight scholarships or anything else that smacks of it. Federal aid directly to universities for added equipment and plant may run into a squabble over racial segregation.

Halleck's tax exemption plan, especially with the high-level backing he can give it, could draw wide support if controversy over these and other points imperilled the White House proposal.

The administration plan still is taking final shape. As of now it is expected to call for a federal outlay of 200 million to 300 million dollars yearly for aid in a variety of forms aimed primarily at producing more and better scientists in the race with Russia.

Scott Given Life For Murder of His Wealthy Wife

LOS ANGELES (U.P.) — L. Ewing Scott, 61-year-old self-styled investment counsellor, today faced life in prison for the murder of his wealthy wife almost three years ago.

Jurors who convicted Scott of first-degree murder last Saturday on circumstantial evidence returned to court Thursday to set the penalty for the crime as provided under a new California law.

After deliberating for almost seven hours, the Superior Court panel of seven men and five women gave Scott his life but ruled that he must spend it in prison.

Scott's five-times-married wife, Mrs. Evelyn Throsby Scott, disappeared from the couple's fashionable Bel-Air home in May, 1955. No trace of her has been found since and her body was never discovered.

Better Record for Woman

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Women in federal prisons have a better record of going straight than men when released, the U. S. Parole Board revealed Thursday. The board said that from mid-1956 to mid-1957 85 per cent of women paroled went straight while only 80 per cent of men paroled did not violate their paroles.

Army Relents On 220 Security Risk Discharges

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Army officials estimated today that about 220 of 726 former officers and enlisted men discharged as security risks between 1948 and 1955 may soon be granted fully honorable military records.

This means that about 30 per cent of all former Army officers and enlisted men separated for security reasons since the government's loyalty program began may receive honorable discharge under a special Army review program.

The Navy and Air Force have regular discharge review programs, but no special security review program on discharges similar to the Army's.

The Army disclosed Thursday it had completed reconsideration of 650 security cases since the program began in March, 1956, and 76 more remain to be decided.

Army personnel officials emphasized that while the changes were designed to correct any unfair or harsh discharges, they did not signify a let-up in Army loyalty security standards in the years since the end of congressional investigations of military security policies.

They pointed out that the program was being administered under regulations issued by Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker in 1955. These required "common sense" judgments on the significance of previous subversive ties and consideration of the soldier's overall military record when discharged.

The 726 discharges did not concern security violations while in the Army. Most of the cases involved personal association with Communist or other subversive organizations before Army induction. Many falsified their Army records to cover up such ties.

Find Bodies of Minister, Wife, Two Children In Florida Home

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (U.P.) — Police pressed an investigation today to determine if the four-member family of a prominent Methodist minister, investment counselor and foundation president died in a pre-Christmas murder-suicide.

The body of Dr. H. Sanford Williams, 48, was found late Thursday afternoon in his bathroom, a .45-caliber pistol on the floor nearby. His wife was found shot to death in a bedroom and his two young sons were dead of bullet wounds in another bedroom.

A medical examiner said the deaths apparently occurred some time Monday and tests were begun to determine if any of the four had fired the pistol.

Police were summoned to the fashionable Bahama Beach home at 4:30 p. m. Thursday when business associates of Williams, their knocks unanswered, peered through a window and saw one of the bodies. Authorities said it appeared the four had been dead several days.

Williams had been president of the National Retirement Foundation, devoted to the health and welfare of the aged, since last February. Previously, he was an investment counselor here since 1954 and earlier had been pastor of several North Carolina Methodist churches.

Samuel William Fuller, foundation vice president, said he talked to Williams Monday night and that he appeared to be despondent.

Williams came here in 1954 and became an investment counselor after qualifying with the New York Stock Exchange. He married the former Alice Wenzlick in 1940. They had two sons, Leonard, 10, and Clarence, 9.

Police said Williams could have been despondent over finances. They found a letter from an unidentified brother advising him to return to the brokerage business.

Fuller said Williams had told him the foundation "was his whole life and that he didn't want to be around if it failed." He said Williams had suffered one setback after another in his efforts to build up the foundation.

Rosiclare School District Voters Approve Bond Issue

A $150,000 bond issue has been approved, 306 to 133, by voters in the Rosiclare grade school district, in a special school election.

Proceeds of the bond issue bearing not over 4 1/4 per cent interest will be used to construct an addition to the present school building which will contain six classrooms and a gymnasium, or all-purpose room.

Proponents of the bond issue, including the Parent-Teachers organization, stated that the addition was needed to alleviate crowded conditions in present classrooms; that some of the classes of more than 40 pupils should be split, but there was no classroom available.

They stated the gymnasium and all-purpose room was needed to give physical education for music an band, and for holding public meetings.

The bonds will be paid over an 18-year period, starting in 1960.
